Ringling Brothers Have Sur-

Solomon and Queen of Sheba
an Unrivalled Spectacle.

Nero has watched his Rome burn to a cinder beneath the encircling folds of a circus tent. Pompeii has fallen to ruins in the scattered sawdust of the ring and Cleopatra has taken her last look at Egypt just before the clown's entry for the big arctic numbers. And now, the wise King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba have been made the hero and heroine of a circus spectacle surrounded with all the gorgeous pageantry and lavish costumes that the wealth and ingenuity of master showmen can devise.

The good old public likes some things all the time. One of these is the spectacle and it must be "massive." If it is under canvas the public wants it just as much as it does the clowns, the elephants or the beautiful lady rider in pink and fluffy tarletons who, with her spangles and smiles, seems the quintessence of fairyland.

And so Ringling Brothers are this season featuring a mammoth spectacle production wherein the wisest of kings is the center of the most glittering array of pantomime magnificence ever offered in circuses. Planning a spectacle such as that which will be seen in Topeka when the shows of the famous five brothers exhibit here

A BILLION BED BUGS BITE THE DUST

That's the record to date of the victims of P. D. Q. If you doubt it count 'em.

P. D. Q. (Pesky Devil's Quietus), is a chemical compound you can get at your drugstore. You mix it as directed and then you declare war on bedbugs, roaches, fleas, chicken lice and ants. If you want a test get a large dog very full of fleas and sprinkle him. My how the fleas will flop! Or try it on the bedbug colony you have tried so hard to get rid of. They will turn up their noses like they'd been hit by a 45-centimeter gun. And mind you P. D. Q. kills to the final generation. It swats the eggs just as hard as the live ones. They can't hatch out once they've tasted P. D. Q.

next Monday is a tremendous task. It means the musing of more than a thousand actors and hundreds of horses into great ensemble groups. Fortunately the show grounds have not the limitations of the theater stage and, for the purpose of roofing their gigantic production, Ringling Brothers have had made a specially constructed tent measuring 520 feet in length by 250 feet in width—the largest stretch of canvas ever carried.

"Solomon and the Queen of Sheba" is produced under the personal direction of Al. Ringling, assisted by a corps of stage managers headed by Ottokar Bartik, balletmaster from the Metropolitan Grand Opera house. The spectacle is made a part of the circus program and opens the afternoon and evening performances. Its pageants are marvels of brilliancy and the processions presented when Solomon and Sheba's queen vie with each other in their contest for supremacy in riches are said to be the most remarkable displays of their kind ever seen in America.

A gigantic wordless play enacted upon a stage bigger than that of a hundred ordinary theaters, it has been pronounced the most magnificent spectacle ever presented in America. It requires a cast of 1,250 characters, a ballet of 300 dancing girls, and a caravan of camels. It depicts the glory of Solomon and the beauty of Balkis in a succession of scenes that picture the pomp and splendor of ancient Israel with strict regard for historical accuracy.

Five trains are required to transport the wonders of Ringlingville, and one entire section is loaded with special scenery, costumes, accessories and the processions presented when Solomon and the Queen of Sheba" production. There is a chorus of a thousand voices and 90 musicians augmented by a cathedral organ. The grand procession in which Solomon goes to the gates of Jerusalem to greet Sheba's queen is a pageant of grandeur enlisting the entire cast of characters, almost 700 horses, elephants and correctly caparisoned desert camels.
